

Stomach Troubles Cured by Vinol

HERE IS PROOF

"I suffered so long from stomach trouble and indigestion, that I lost flesh rapidly—VINOL cured me after everything else had failed. It strengthened my digestive organs—gave me a hearty appetite, and I can eat anything without the slightest distress. I do not believe anything equals VINOL for stomach trouble and indigestion."

W. E. WATERHOUSE,
Portland, Me.

Mr. Thos. G. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., writes, "I suffered for years from a chronic stomach trouble. VINOL entirely cured me after everything else had failed."

It is the curative medicinal elements of the cod's liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL, which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion, and at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Try a bottle of VINOL with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

The South's Forward Stride.

The South no longer carries all its eggs in the basket. Corn, rice and fruits of the various sorts are being raised there to an extent undreamed of half a dozen years ago. Beside the cotton plantation the cotton mill is being erected. Although Massachusetts still excels in the manufacture of the finer grades of cotton fabrics, the entire mill consumption of cotton now is as great in the South as it is in the North. Immigrants from Europe are at last beginning to turn toward the South. Northern settlers and capital are, more and more every year, drifting toward the States below the Potomac and the Ohio. The current of farmers seeking cheap lands, which has been crossing into Canada in large volume in the past few years, is moving toward Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and the more easterly states along the Gulf coast now. DeBew, the South's statistician and publicist of long ago, who predicted an immense expansion for his region as a result of the removal of the slavery incubus, ought to have lived half a century later. Some choice prizes—industrial, social and political—are to be won by the South in the coming time.

SAVED AT DEATH'S DOOR.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. I was in a dreadful condition, he writes, my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing 40 pounds, growing weaker daily. Violent liver trouble pulling me down, to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine—Electric Bitters—cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and now am strong and well. For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they are supreme. 50c at S. E. McGeachy.

Serious Business.

Where's your father? asked the man on horseback.
Up the river fishing, answered the boy.

Where's your big brother?
Down the river fishing.
What are you doing?
Digging bait.
Hasn't your family anything to do but amuse itself.

Mister, if you think we're doing this for fun, you wait an' hear what maw says if we come home without any fish.

Pull Even.

The young driver came home in anything but a pleasant mood. Bert put his horse into the team along with mine, and we took a big wagon load of young folks down to the lake and picnic grounds for a day's fun. I never will do it again; his horse just lagged back every step of the way, and let my horse do all the work. I urged the lazy thing along all I dared—Bert would not like it if I was too severe with him—but poor Prince came home all in a lather, and I won't drive him again for some days, because he needs a good rest after his overwork. The young man's face was flushed with the indignation of one who felt that he—and his horse—had been imposed upon.

"That is the worst of it," said some one in the group of listeners, "if one shirks work, some one else has to do more than his share to make up. It is not simply a question of taking it easy, and not doing what we ought. It is also a question of whether we are going to make it harder than fair and right for some one else, by making him do our work as well as his own. I wonder if the shirkers ever think of that?"
"Here, now, that is not fair, either, to turn my guns upon me that, when I'm tired out with my experience with the team too," laughed the young driver. "You know very well that I left my share of the home work for some else to do while I went off on this pleasure trip that turned out a 'vexation of spirit.' But perhaps that was just what it should do, under all the circumstances. Next time I will pull even myself; maybe the others will fall in line, and do their share of the pulling, too."—Selected.

Nature's Warning.

Chipley People Must Recognize And Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously.

R. Buchanan of DeFuniak Springs, Fla., says: "I suffered from disordered kidneys for some time. There was severe pains in my back and side, I was very nervous and was subject to headaches. I became tired easily and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. I finally procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. I received great relief from the first and continued taking this remedy until I was free from kidney trouble. I am glad to give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my cure."
